

PROJECT MANAGER

LINCOLN & NORFOLK AREAS

Do you have a knack for seeing the big picture? Helping safely guide a project to completion? Building relationships and providing excellent service to our clients and customers, architects, engineers and subcontractors? If so, an exciting opportunity with Hausmann, a dynamic and established company, awaits you.

The Project Manager position is responsible for the overall planning and coordination of activities concerned with the construction and maintenance of structures, facilities and systems while executing a project from start to finish. In order to meet the client's goals, project managers will work with team members on the conceptual development of a construction project to help oversee its organization, scheduling, budgeting, and implementation while being organized, responsive, and adept at managing a project or multiple projects.

The project manager will help to minimize cost and risk while ensuring that all project products and services are risk-managed, budgeted effectively and delivered in a timely manner.

An exciting opportunity with Hausmann awaits the right candidate. This is a busy, high-volume but friendly environment that will suit an organized person with a great eye for detail and excellent team spirit. Benefits include a competitive salary, dynamic culture and opportunities for training and development.
